12. Essey:

It matters but I don't think of the application is incomplete if those listed parameters were not included in the application. Despite giving conclusion it senses it those parameters mean background, Identity, interest, and talent is considered during application. For instance, if I take my case regarding background I am from a small rural village and from a farmer and housewife parent and even I am not familiar with Computer-based courses during high school level that made me confused during freshman course in the first year first semester of my Bachelor program. Sometimes latter I feel even campus life better than ever for me due I have a chance of access to build my capabilities in all skills. As I boost up my background regarding the above-listed issues and if you consider my scenario I am stated as from dean listed student in all subject matter and communication skill. After graduation, my background sounds like the staff and I got the chance to University Lecturer. Now, I believe that the background, Identity, Interest, and talent must weigh.
