I am going to write about an obstacle that I've encountered and overcame. It was during my campus life in Gujarat. On my first semester I failed in three subjects. When I got that news, it was a horrible experience for me. I was in India with high expectation from family and friends, the result I got was totally contradicted my goal. I was very depressed at that time. The very next day, I got a call from my mentor. She literally changed my view about study, carrier, and life. She inspired me a lot during that depression period of mine. After that I never had to look back. On the second semester I cleared all the subjects including my previous backlogs with a satisfactory result. I was really happy with my comeback. It induced a fire inside me which helped me a lot throughout my campus life. I never had to face any difficulties afterwards or should say whenever there was any issues I knew that I could overcome it no matter what. This attitude has changed my life. From second year I was a regular face on my campus. I used to participate in all kind of activities be it academic or extra curriculum activities. My result got improved day by day and so was my confidence. Now I've completed my engineering degree with a CGPA of 8.31 from Gujarat Technological University which is quiet handsome. Still today, when I look back, that is the day that comes to mind first. My mentor really helped me a lot in those crucial moments. Things could easily go wrong that time but I pulled them back on my favor. I started seeing things differently and life was no more a tragedy. Today I'm writing this with heart full of hope and joy, hopping to be selected for this prestigious program and live two years of my most important life in India.
