12. Essey:

Our society is comprised of various ethical dilemma which we couldn't solve in a blink of an eye. As a responsible citizen, I have a self-realization about workplace ethics and I will get an opportunity in the future to work out on it. It will be like a masterpiece for me. Workplace ethics refers to the significance principle and utility governing the right way in communication or act conduct in working area. It shows the path to the people from seniors to juniors to do things in the right though the incorrect can equally enriching and satisfying plethora of ethical dilemmas and misemploy that choice into play in any workplace. An illegal, unethical to irresponsible situation occurred against the working people and it jeopardizes the employer's performance. It comes to light when workers like managers and the subordinated perform leadership of committing opposite courses of action. It may conclude with unsolicited sexual advances, intervention in working activity through intimidation. As Matter of a concern that sexual harassment varies through nature covers your working area, hostile, and causes torture for the abused people. The most popular issue which always pops up is dual relationship conclude between employees sharing equal duties. Furthermore, harassment head arises due to the engagement of unethical intimate relationships hamper their personal as well as professional commitment-making procedure. Unanimous relations in working are between high and low criteria people are more dangerous, because of more autocratic power of affecting the working capability of the junior levels is the main reason behind this discrimination. I want to add a personal experience, one of my colleagues was a female who was very good at her professional level but sometimes she felt uncomfortable from the majority level, I realized this thing and determined to help her but I was not in that position to raise the action. though several complaining to the higher authority at last she left the job. It was huge discrimination among the co-workers. It may be perpetuated in front of the opposite gender but it makes itself a gendered problem that is high in a case for women than men. Though this model expands the large significance of factors that arise straightly with the generality of a working area the identification of the factors is relevant to the popping of harassment that is exacerbated in some circumstances but not in public. . In some appearances, we find that environment of MNC culture becomes masculinized where they naturally provided sexualized imagery. For this fact, various high field responses of sexual harassment constitute the maintenances of employees' inappropriate conduct which allows avoiding from my personal opinion, it should be clarified before joining in a company that there is zero tolerance about it. Moreover, we can develop an anti-harassment policy together with the co-workers, managers. Making communication about the policy and the manager and supervisor have to understand their responsibility for generating a free-working environment also investigate and dealing of complaints and providing protection and support mentally and physically.
