To Whom It May Concern

It gives me great pleasure to write on Seyyed Mostafa Mehrdad's behalf as he applies to your University's for master's program. I have had multiple interactions with Mostafa: as a student, teaching assistant, and member of the scientific committee.

Mostafa was the first person I met when he enrolled in my professional language class in 2013. He was attentive in class, prepared, presented well-written and intelligent assignments, and engaged meaningfully in class discussions by debating other students. Through his water structures lesson, Mostafa demonstrated his critical thinking abilities. Needless to say, Mostafa was one of five students to receive an A in that 75-student class. He has established himself as an enthusiastic student who is attentive about his studies and attends courses and laboratories actively. Additionally, he participated in every class discussion.

In my opinion, Mostafa's capabilities and motivations make him an excellent candidate for a higher education program. As a result, I highly urge him to pursue a master's degree.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Respectfully yours,

Mir Ahmad Lashteh Neshaei, Ph.D.
