RESEARCH STATEMENT

My research interests generally involve Data Analysis. I believe that Machine learning is a method of data analysis that automates analytical model building.

It is a branch of Artificial Intelligence based on the idea that systems can learn from data, identify patterns and make decisions with minimal human intervention.

I have MSc from the field of Information Technology at Sikkim Manipal University, India and BSc in Physics Electronics. I have different research experiences within the field of Database and Information System which serves as a motivation to me.

I have worked with Oracle 11g using SQL at the Ministry of Communications, Nigeria. This opportunity inculcated many pragmatic accomplishments in me. As a result, I am competent in the following skills.

- Project Management
- Website Design and maintenance
- Oracle Installation and Back-up
- SQL
- Java

In the short term, I would be most interested in possible knowledge in quickly and automatically ways to produce models that can analyze bigger, more complex data and deliver faster, more accurate results even on a very large scale.

And by building precise models, organization can have a better chance of identifying profitable opportunities or avoiding unknown risks.

In particular, I think it would be most fruitful to focus on configurability and extensibility of existing systems, and explore effective measures of evaluation within existing system structure. From this foundation, I believe the next step would be to design and implement new systems, structured specifically to better respond to diversity of solutions.

However, systems need to incorporate a wider range of capabilities within existing and new abstractions. Some of the experience I have had on this front is the incorporation of embedded network processors into a global memory management system that uses available cluster memory instead of disk for backing-store.

Intelligent network interfaces and similar devices are bound to become increasingly prominent as they become commodity hardware, and I am interested in better understanding how to better expose their power within existing systems.

On the other hand, I will be able to learn on the requirements in creating good machine learning systems, while considering the factors:

- Data preparation capabilities.
- Algorithms – basic and advanced.
- Automation and iterative processes.
- Scalability.
- Ensemble modeling.

I have recently had a course on data science, smart Infrastructure which is also my area of interest. I have a background in data management, since this is a continuously evolving area; I feel there is need for ongoing upgrade of skills and passion.

I firmly believe that a PhD position at your University is an excellent choice for me, and I think this is a great chance for me to deepen my knowledge, pursue my passion and give contributions to the scientific community.

After my course I intend to become an IT Influencer in the world while taking new perspectives and eventually manage/influence others.

I aim at communicating with the industry leaders to develop my network after I might have learnt business management for establishing my business in consulting environment.

With my experience, passion and solid theoretical knowledge, I believe that this course is good for me.

Therefore, it will be a great honor if I can work under the supervision of prominent lecturers and scientists, within a well-equipped research facility and in an academic atmosphere of your University.

I appreciate the time and efforts you invested in assessing my application, and I am hoping to a positive response.

Kind regards,

Yours Faithfully,
Mary Ifeoluwa Olawuyi
